Commissioner Greene told the 100 contractors who assembled at the contract award hearing that he is preparing a list of roads that will be put under construction in 1920, in order that the contractors may inspect them during the winter. The contracts will be let this year so that work may be started early next spring. It is planned to have more highway work under way in 1920 than ever before in the history of the state.

Service Speaks to Parents.
Those who heard Mr. Service speak at the high school Wednesday evening before the Parent-Teachers Association were much impressed with the problem of industrial training in our public schools, as presented by him. He told of the eagerness of the boys for such training and also of the lack of sufficient room and equipment to carry on the work in the most successful manner and to include all boys desiring to take such a course. He believed that this work should start in the grammar schools and said that it would be possible to secure another teacher for this department through the financial aid of the state educational department, which would furnish part of the salary.

RUSSIAN REDS HARD PRESSED

Nearly all of European Russia is ablaze with battle today. At no time since the soviet was established have the Bolshevik armies been so hard pressed as they are at the present time. According to dispatches from Archangel, Omsk and London, the anti-Red forces are advancing on three fronts and the fall of Petrograd is believed to be imminent.

Admiral Kolchak, leader of the anti-Bolshevik forces in eastern Russia, claims gains over the whole front west of the Ural mountains and the annihilation of eight Bolshevik regiments. The anti-Red forces in Northern Russia claim to be driving the forces of Lenin and Trotsky southward. General Denikin, commander of the "White armies" in southern Russia, is moving on Moscow and is now standing at Orel only 180 miles from Moscow, the present seat of the Bolshevik government.

In western Russia, German, Russian, Lettish and Polish armies are engaged in conflict. The Letts have opened an offensive against the Germans and their Russian allies along the Dvina river with the evident object of retaking Riga. The Poles have begun a new campaign against the Germans.

The German army of General Von Der Goltz, which is fighting in defiance of the allies' orders, has joined up with the Russians in the Baltic province, and is reported to be moving northward in the direction of Petrograd.

He believed that this work should start in the grammar schools and said that it would be possible to secure another teacher for this department through the financial aid of the state educational department, which would furnish part of the salary.

It was decided to appoint a committee to further investigate the matter and to hold another meeting with a special speaker who could give added information relative to the problem and its solution.

Mr. Service also told of the well organized work in the cooking and sewing classes and in the industrial arts class. But here again there is need of more trained instructors.

Next month the meeting of the High School Parent-Teachers Association will be held in the high school lunch room, and Miss Davis, head of the cooking department will tell of the school lunch room service. Light refreshments will also be served.

Express Drivers Next to Strike.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 16.—About 30,000 express teamsters, included in unions in all cities east of Chicago, may strike as a result of the railroad administration's refusal to deal with New York express stakers, unless they return to work, according to Michael J. Cashel, first vice president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, today.

The men demand a 25 percent increase in wages in their monthly pay of $8.00 a day and a half for overtime, double time for Sunday and a week's vacation in every year.

"We can not go back on the basis of a mere promise," said Cashel. "Just such a promise was made when we struck last May. The men are tired of waiting."

CITY LIBRARY BURGLARIZED

Some Time Tuesday Night—Thief Forced Open Vault Door With an Axe and Secured $26 in Cash and $1 in Stamps—Discovered Wednesday.

Wednesday morning when Smith M. Barnard, janitor at the Kingston City Library, was making his rounds of the building, he made the startling discovery that some time during the night a thief had obtained entrance to the library, forced open the vault door with an axe, and gotten away with about $26 in cash, and $1 in stamps.

The vault is located on the lower floor in the rear, and is used to store papers in mostly. The money and stamps were kept in a small tin box, this box with the cover broken off, was found near the coal bin, and the contents gone. Near the vault door was the axe that had been used.

It is evident that the burglar knew what he was doing, and had made a survey of the premises before attempting the robbery. Entrance was evidently secured through a small window in the toilet which had been forced. The axe used was kept near the coal bin, some distance away from the vault.

After forcing the vault open the thief entered and removed the small tin box in which the money was being stored. He then opened the box and removed the contents. Then he unlocked the back door, and left.

Nothing else was found disturbed in the building by Mr. Barnard.

CLEARWATER AT ROTARY DINNER

Proceeding "Eulogistic Obituary" the Judge Learned Painful Truths Set Forth With "Acrobatic Emphasis" That May Be Repeated Only "In a Euphemistic Way."

Judge Clearwater, with ideas all polished up by an address he had delivered to the bankers in the afternoon, with vocabulary enriched by a discussion he had had with a couple of members of the Rotary Club before entering the dining room, and stimulated by what he termed the "eulogistic obituary" with which he was introduced by Arthur C. Connelly, was at his best as the speaker at the Kingston Rotary Club dinner at the Eagle Hotel Wednesday evening.

Perhaps some one had told the judge that a Rotary dinner was an assemblage of earnest and solemn seekers after truth and light, proceeding with grave formality and careful of its dignity. If so, the judge knows better now.

In opening his address the judge said that he had been surprised to find that the Rotary Club was the greatest educational institution in Kingston. In one evening he had known before he had heard the Sistine Choir in Rome, the famous choir in the Madeline in Paris, and in Strasbourg Cathedral, but never had he heard such singing "as this evening. He had been entranced and so overcome that at one time he feared it would be impossible for him to say anything. Before the dinner he had heard from two of the Rotarians that the cause of strikes and the general turmoil in the world was "defective mentality" and the same gentlemen had shocked and saddened him by assertions regarding the unchanged habits of some of his fellow citizens, on which they had laid such acerbic emphasis that he could refer to their language only in a euphemistic way and state publicly that the topic under discussion had something to do with the recent enactment of the prohibition amendment.

The world is in a state of unrest and whatever the cause, it exists. Two men out of the slums overturned the government of Russia, on the ground that justice was not being administered. Justice is not perfectly administered because humanity is imperfect and while there was much truth in the abuses that Lenin and Trotsky cited, there was nothing to justify what has occurred. We are foolish if we say that Bolshevism can never find a foothold here, for it is now here, disseminated by secondaries that all capital is labor saved up and that they are the self-appointed persons to redistribute it, taking the principal share themselves. No man or body can determine offhand how to meet this situation. We have always believed that labor should get what it has earned, and earn what it demands, but now come men who demand that labor shall receive what it has not earned, that if you save you should distribute your savings to those who have neither earned nor saved.

This condition is spasmodic—we will survive, but with tremendous loss of energy, labor and capital, the remedy is sound thinking. Our country was built up by the exercise of the old-fashioned virtues, that today are lost sight of. We must return to the practice of these virtues. The cowardly attitude of our public men must cease. On Manhattan Island, 1,386,000 women who are illiterate, yet our cowardly public men have given them the vote.

In Kingston, where we have all of the virtues and virtues and few of the vices of 250 years of American civilization we scarcely realize the conditions that are seething around us. We must wake up and do our share. Rotary, which brings diverse interests together in a homogeneity of interest and unity of purpose and a desire to assist in the upbuilding of the whole town, is doing much to help. In the past the cause of Kingston was sectional and personal jealousy. It has been a desire of honor to build up one part, small jealousies are a hindrance to progress.

It being ladies' night, about 60 persons attended the dinner, in the absence of President C. R. Still, Joseph M. Herken presided.

ALL AMENDMENTS TO BE DEFEATED

Indications are That no Textual Changes in the Peace Treaty Will Pass the Senate.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Oct. 16.—The defeat of the proposed Shantung amendment to the peace treaty seemed inevitable as one senator after another arose in the senate this afternoon and expressed his intention of voting against it.

A vote on the amendment was expected before the end of the afternoon.

Opposition to any textual changes being made in the treaty became so pronounced that prediction was made by "mild reservationists" on the Republican side as well as by administration senators on the Democratic side, that all proposed amendments would be beaten.

Senator Hale, Republican of Maine, announced that while he favored strong reservations, he would not vote for the treaty unless they were adopted, he was opposed to any textual changes. Hale declared he would not only vote against the Shantung amendment, but the Johnson amendment, of the United States and Great Britain in the league of nations assembly, and all other remaining amendments.

He urged night sessions of the senate as a means of securing immediate action on the treaty, which he said was demanded by public opinion. Further debate will not alter the position of any senator on amendments and reservations, he contended, and the question of ratification might as well be settled without any more delay.

WAS SEEING IF HIS SHOES LEAKED

West Shore Carpenter Emulates Submarine in Water Tank—Has Some Difficulty in Reaching the Surface.
One of the carpenters in the employ of the West Shore Railroad had a very unusual and not altogether pleasant experience Wednesday while at work on the big water tank near the station. Most of the water had been drawn from the tank and he was detailed to make some repairs inside.

While his helper was away for a short time he went down into the tank to make the necessary repairs. When a few feet from the manhole the step of the ladder gave way and threw his weight upon the following steps, which had become weakened from submersion in the water and the walls of the tank were wet and slippery and he was unable to get out. Very fortunately there was but a couple of feet of water in the tank, or he might have been drowned. He began pounding on the walls of the tank until his helper came, half an hour later.

Inquiry as to what he was doing down in the tank in the water brought forth the answer that he was "seeing if his shoes leak." After drying himself he was able to resume his work none the worse for the unusual experience.

THE PHONOGRAPH PARTS REGAN TALKING—

to each other after playing some beautiful music for the hostess and her guests.

"Tell you what," said Mr. Record. "It makes me proud to know that my art is so appreciated by the great public."

Prim Miss Needie pricked up her ears. "Your art? Why if it wasn't for you couldn't make a sound! The very idea of trying to take away my credit!"

"There's no point to your remarks, Miss Needie," broke in Mrs. Reprodier. "You merely carry vibrations to me. I turn them into tones. The applause of the public rightly belongs to me!"

"Nonsense!" cried young Tonia. "You don't amount to anything at all until I get on the job. If it wasn't for my skill in working the tone, nobody would listen to you!"

Down below, old Mr. Sound Chamber shook his sides with mellow laughter.

"Isn't it amusing how these little parts make a fuss about themselves?" quoth he. "They know all the time that I'm the star actor in this show. Tonia is what people want, and I'm the fellow that gives beauty to the tone! They're jealous, that's all!"

Instantly there was a hubbub. All the other parts began to answer this last remark at the same time, but there was such discord that nobody could be heard.

The Harmonic Cabinet decided the argument had gone far enough. "Children, children, Sh-h-h!" said he in his polished, polite way. "Don't you see that you're all at fault? Each of you is essential, but don't get the idea you're the whole thing just because you're an essential part! It takes team work, not strife, to produce harmony!"

"There are lots of people in the world like you," went on Mr. Cabinet. "They think they're the whole thing when they're really only an essential part!"

"Get together, work together, help each other. Then there'll be all harmony, no discord. You'll do better work than ever, and there'll be plenty of rewards and applause for you all!"

Next morning the business started the same again. This time Mrs. Record said to her husband, "You know, I'm going to leave you, inspired, and let him and end into the music, while down below, old Mr. Sound Chamber nodded the tempo in a new delight."

Then they heard one of the guests say, "Be good!" "That's the best lesson I've ever heard anywhere. When I get my own instrument, it's certainly going to be a good one!"

And the parts all chuckled with joy and happiness, because "working together" had become their new motto.

You'll find every "part" of this story "working together" to serve your needs.

Captain Smith and Lieutenant Ruggles.

Captain L. H. Smith and Lieutenant F. W. Ruggles, western aviators who reached Roosevelt Field, Mineola, in their long flight from the coast, were believed to have made faster flying time than Lieutenant Maynard on his flight to San Francisco. ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, Oct. 16.—The October meeting of the local W. C. T. U. was held at Hunt Memorial Hall on Wednesday afternoon. There was a large attendance of members and a few visitors. The meeting was in charge of the vice president, Mrs. Addison Stratton, and was opened with Scripture reading and prayer by Mrs. Mahlon Smith. This was followed by a business session at which time the secretary's and treasurer's reports were given and accepted. The subject of this meeting was Civics and was under the direction of the superintendents, Mrs. George F. Andrews and Mrs. R. T. Cookingham. The ladies had arranged a program which was carried out. The candidates for town officers of the two parties were named and discussions followed in which all had a part if willing. The union is non-partisan and the choice of candidate to be elected in voting is left to the individual. The entire program was enjoyed with profit to all attending. Many years have elapsed since on that memorable occasion when the W. C. T. U. great leader, Frances E. Willard, stood on the platform in the city of Buffalo and raised her voice in the interest of women having the right to vote. Now she has it, she should put forth best effort and play her part for the cause for which she nobly stands. God and home and native land, and see to it that her town, her county, her state and its best interests are furthered by her ballot.

Among the number attending the 19th anniversary of the Phillipsport M. E. Church were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Terwilliger from Ellenville, and Mrs. Terwilliger's cousin, Mrs. William Seaman of Washingtonville, whose grandmother, Mrs. Decker, was an earnest supporter of this church. Attorney H. W. Coons had an important part in the program, giving the church history. Rev. B. M. Smith of Middletown, came over to call on Rev. Albert E. Lord, retired from ministry, and residing in the village, and he accompanied Mr. Coons by auto to the services. Notwithstanding inclement weather, a large attendance is reported and a grand meeting.

The decorating committee of welcome home day have been at work making the village quite alive with decorations. Canal street is one of welcome home emblems. The stores are decorating. The Millbrook house is a mass of red, white and blue and the residence and offices of Dr. B. F. Neal is a bower of beauty with its flags and bunting. A little more sunshine and the stranger entering the town will want to stay right here and go no further. It will linger longer until Saturday arrives with all its welcome and the stores of the village never presented a more beautiful appearance than now in their handsome display of goods along lines carried for welcome home day. Lieutenant Tate, who gave aeroplane exhibitions at Kingston's welcome home day, has been engaged to be here on Saturday and do stunts with his Curtiss machine that charmed so many who were in Kingston. State troopers from White Plains will be here to preserve order. The soldiers, sailors are marines of the town of Wawarsing will be welcomed home rain or shine.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Edsall of East Orange, N. J., motored to Ellenville and spent the week-end with relatives. They brought home Mrs. J. R. Mowell, Mrs. Edsall's mother who had been spending a few weeks with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lord and children of Passaic spent Sunday with Mr. Lord's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Albert E. Lord.

Miss Odell, who summered at her cottage at Cragmoor, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Clark for several days before returning to her home at Philadelphia.

Among the large number home for over the week-end and Columbus Day which was quickly celebrated in Ellenville were Miss Mary Hartwig from New York, Miss Virginia Marshall of Walden.

Mrs. A. N. Kapp and daughter spent Monday in Middletown.

Mrs. Mattie Stratton and Miss May Merritt spent Sunday with friends at Pine Bush.

Mrs. Laura Stratton of Middletown is visiting her niece, Mrs. Adelbert Reynolds and family at Nanaucho.

Fields Newkirk, son of John H. Newkirk, has resumed charge of the Greenfield school, that has been without a teacher this school year. Fields is one of our local high school graduates of a few years ago and is sure to meet with success and give good work in this school.

FLAG DELIVERED IN POUGHKEEPSIE

The Roosevelt flag, which left Kingston Tuesday for Poughkeepsie, was delivered at the high school there during the afternoon, the running time between Kingston and the Poughkeepsie high school being covered by the runners in 1 hour, 54 minutes and 30 seconds. All of the boys who accompanied the flag to Poughkeepsie ran from the high school to the ferry and from there each runner carried the flag half a mile while the other runners were carried in automobiles until their relay came due.

In addition to those runners who were mentioned in Tuesday's paper, the following also accompanied the flag to the Bridge City: Schoenfeld, J. Haber, Caunitz, Gumaer, Foster and Allen. The trip Tuesday was made under great difficulties, the entire distance being made in a steady rain storm.

Those who provided cars for carrying the runners from this city were Harry Schryver, George Mathews, Clark Krom, George Forman, Amos McCreery, Alfred W. Buley, John Schoonmaker and Harry Schantz. Upon arrival in Poughkeepsie all of the runners carried the flag through the city, running the entire distance that the flag was carried in the city. The distance the flag was carried by the Kingston runners was about 22 miles.

JOXAH DAY IN HIGHLAND.

Auto Accidents And Other Kinds Happen.

Highland, Oct. 15.—Monday was Joxah day for this village as there were several accidents. About 1:30 p. m. as George Henderson of Samsonville, N. Y., was rounding the sharp turn from the New Paltz turnpike into Vineyard avenue he ran into a Ford commercial car driven by Slater, of Poughkeepsie, and badly wrecked the machine. Henderson was held until Slater had procured a lawyer who decided in Slater's favor and Henderson after paying a part of the costs of this accident immediately backed into a Ford car belonging to William Whitmore, tearing off the front mudguard, and again Henderson had to settle for $25. Henderson was driving a Chalmers. Then about 3:30 p. m. Victor Bait, who is employed in the Schuette plant in the bottling department had the misfortune to cut his right arm very badly with a bottle which broke as he reached for it, cutting his arm above the elbow and also below the elbow. Mr. Bait was immediately brought to the office of Dr. Blakey and later taken to one of the Poughkeepsie hospitals, where he will be treated. And about the same time the fire alarm was sounded, which called many away, but upon investigation it was found to be the smoke from the Philip Schantz house in lower Main street, which was being fumigated.

Has Important Position.

Miss Anna Clawson, a graduate of the Moran Business School, has accepted a high-salaried government position in Bridgeport, Conn. One of the government officials in Bridgeport, Conn., attracted by Miss Clawson's unusual ability, engaged her just two days after the closing of the plant of the Remington Arms Corporation, in whose offices she had been employed since leaving school. Miss Clawson attributes her success to the thorough training received while a student at the Moran Business School.

It is a Lucky State of Affairs That We Can't Foretell What the Future Has in Store for Us the Stroller Hears.

"Well, and what is on your mind this morning?" asked the customer as he dropped in the barber shop for a chat. "Nothing unusual," replied the busy barber, with a grin, "but I was wondering if I should buy an automobile or an airplane to do my pleasuring in."

"Judging from what I read in the papers the other day about an auto running up on the sidewalk and hitting a pedestrian," replied the customer. "It would be safer for you to be either up in the air in an airplane or riding in an auto than in walking along the sidewalks."

"And that is not such a joke at that," said the barber, "but to tell the truth I am a fatalist."

"In what way?" asked the customer.

"What is to happen will happen," replied the barber.

"By that I suppose you mean if a man marries a woman and then is sorry all his life, or happy as the case may be, that it was fore-ordained to be, huh?" queried the customer.

"Now you hit it," said the barber, "and if a man is to get his leg broke by a fall on a sidewalk he will get it if he stays in the house all the time."

"That don't sound reasonable," interrupted the customer.

"It don't, don't it," replied the barber, "well if he had to break his leg on the walk, no matter how long he stayed in the house the first time he left it, bingo, and it would be done."

"Maybe," grunted the customer, "but you got to show me."

"How can I," retorted the barber, "I can't foretell the future, and it is lucky that I can't for if I knew what was due to happen me within the next year or so I would only worry myself sick."

"That's reasonable too," granted the customer, "and I suppose that is one reason why we can't peer into the future."

"Now you hit it," replied the barber, "and the only persons who think they can are the ones you chuck up a dollar, or it is two, to read your fortune."

"I don't believe in such stuff," said the customer.

"And neither do I," replied the barber, "but there are a lot of people who do."

"Well, some one once said there was one born every minute," said the customer.

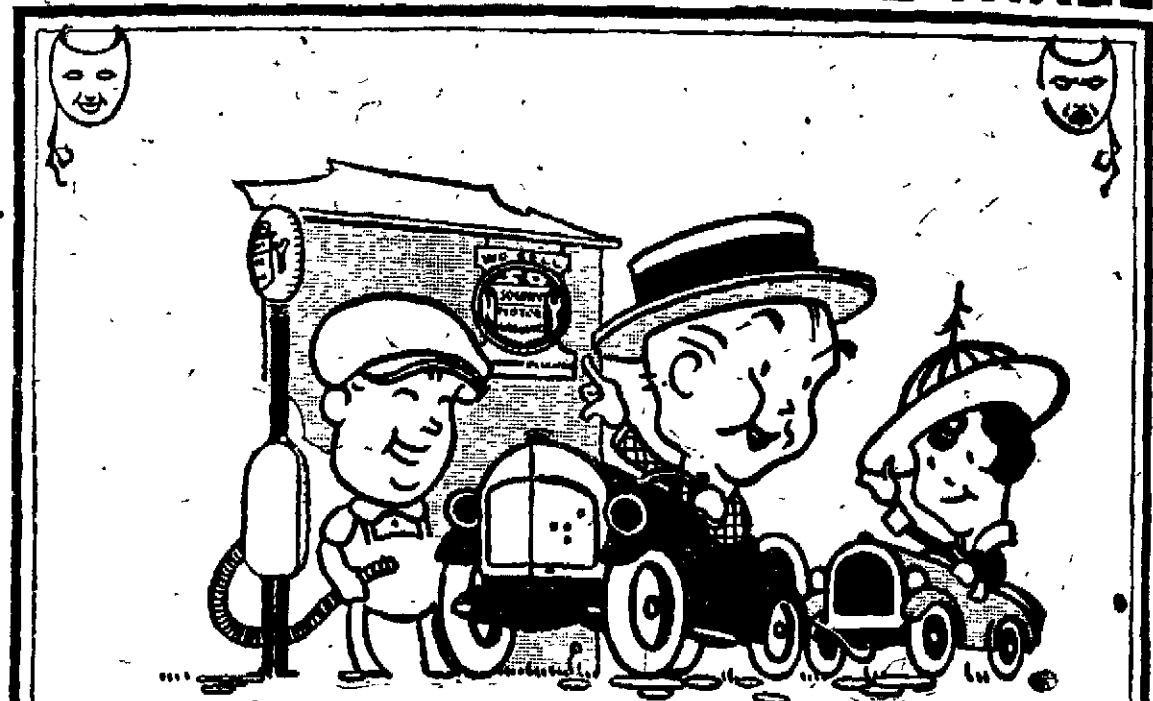

"And he made a mistake in his time limit," replied the barber, "what he should have said was every half minute."

DOCTOR AND NURSES DINED

Thomas J. Comerford Shows Appreciation to Benedictine Staff for Care Received During Illness.

Quite an appropriate social affair was the supper given at the Stuyvesant last evening to Dr. Mark O'Meara and eight nurses, the staff of the Benedictine Sanitarium, by Thomas J. Comerford. The nurses were Katherine A. O'Brien, R. N., Katherine G. McGrane, Alice G. Matthews, A. Joannette Farrell, R. N., Lulu Dero, Frances Crough, R. N., Elizabeth S. Post and Catherine E. Cook.

Going through the menu, from "Cocktail a la Stuyvesant," followed by consommé, weakfish, on along the heavier lines of action, steaks, cutlets, chops, ham, cheese, parsley omelets, biscuits, break, cakes, preserves and coffee, with all the condiments that the Stuyvesant may serve, this little dining party renewed their friendships of a year ago and spent two hours in the most delightful tete-a-tetes.

Wednesday was the first anniversary of Thomas J. Comerford's admission to the Benedictine Sanitarium as a patient. October 15, 1918, he was taken there to be treated and cured, if the latter were possible. He was not expected to live. Four days he lay close to death, but the splendid care he received, the close, capable and efficient medical attendance and careful, conscientious nursing given him by the medical and nursing staffs restored him to health.

It was in the supper last night to which the Benedictine Sanitarium staffs were invited that he hoped to show his appreciation of what had been done for him. As favors the little, convenient Djer-Kiss perfume pocket kit and boxes of candy were given out.

Grown-Ups at Play? Yes, Kiddies, Too, Urged in "Better World" Movement

Rowland Haynes

Play for everybody—kiddies and grown-ups alike—is a feature of the plan of the National Social Unit Organization for organizing neighborhood to make a better democracy. The Social Unit has the idea that every city block should be a play center, and in its "demonstration community," which is situated in Cincinnati, there are block parties, block games, block dances, and even block journeys to the community health clinic.

That the public schools should be open all the year round and used for everybody is another cause for which thousands of people have attended the Wednesday evening community sing instituted in the neighborhood. Plans for extending the Social Unit idea to other municipalities are now being discussed by twelve committees of distinguished experts representing many fields of social endeavor, who will present recommendations to the country at a national conference to be held late in October. Rowland Haynes, Director of New York War Camp Community Service, heads a national committee of recreation experts who are helping to program wider activities from this angle.

"No More Sleepless Nights" Bathes Internally

Mr. J. B. Burrows, 21 West North St., Kingston, N. Y., writes, "I am still using the J. B. L. Cascade, and it is the most efficient for keeping me in fine condition. It acts as a solvent for tired nerves and has been a great help for sleeplessness. I have frequently arisen from bed and used it in the middle of the night with satisfactory results."

The reason for this remarkable result is because the functions cannot work properly when there is accumulation of waste in the lower intestine.

The J. B. L. Cascade, by the simple process of properly applying warm water, eliminates all this waste and causes the functions to work smoothly and properly.

Over half a million intelligent Americans are now using the Cascade with similar results.

It is the invention of Charles A. Tyrrell, M. D., of New York, a noted specialist on internal bathing for 25 years.

It will be shown and explained to you by Elsie Ferguson at Keene's, Wall Street, Kingston, who will be glad to give you an interesting booklet by Dr. Tyrrell called "Why Men of Today are Only 50% Efficient." This booklet is free upon request. Ask for it today while you think of it.

AT THE THEATERS.

Elsie Ferguson at Keene's—Fall of Babylon at K. O. H.

Elsie Ferguson in Gertrude Atherton's famous novel, "The Fall of Babylon," played with all the mastery of this brilliant stage and screen star, will be shown tonight and tomorrow at Keene's in addition to the usual Gaumont Graphic news weekly, Chester-Outing's Field and Stream and the great screen novelty Vol-a-vill movies showing five acts of high class vaudeville acts in motion pictures.

David Wark Griffith's masterpiece, "The Fall of Babylon," with a wonderful orchestra and the dancing marvel "Kyra" in person will be the attraction at the Opera House tonight at 8:15 and continue Friday and Saturday, showing twice daily at 2:30 and 8:15. The things you read and hear about in the days of Babylon have been transferred by Mr. Griffith to the motion picture screen, and there can be no doubt that "The Fall of Babylon" like former Griffith works, is an accurate and authentic reproduction of those days when Prince Belshazzar and King Nabonidus ruled in mighty splendor. There is an eminent satisfaction in knowing that this period of history has been reproduced for the eyes of today.

"The Prodigal Wife," at the Auditorium tonight. Also Larry Seaman in "Between the Acts." It was a riot of laughter at Keene's last night, so be sure you get in to see it here tonight. At the Auditorium only.

WOODSTOCK NAMES EXPERIENCED MAN

Solid Worth of Supervisor Sagenor Has Been Demonstrated and is Recognized by His Fellow Townsmen.

SUPERVISOR LESTER L. SAGENOR

The town of Woodstock knows when it has a good man, and it is going to keep him. The record of Lester L. Sagenor, supervisor of the town of Woodstock and the Republican nominee at this election, is one that Woodstock can be proud of. During his four years of service he has worked steadily and earnestly for the betterment of his town and county.

Mr. Sagenor is a son of W. A. Sagenor and Clarissa Eltinge. He was born in the town of Shandaken in 1862. With the exception of one year during which time he was clerk in the general store of the late L. A. Chichester, he lived in Shandaken with his father until 1884. In that year, his father purchased a farm in the town of Woodstock, where Lester L. Sagenor remained until 1888 when he married Carrie Caronigh. Then with out a dollar he began life for himself, removing to Newburgh where he entered the employ of Biggs & Moore, one of the largest paint and oil firms along the Hudson river.

In the spring of 1892, Mr. Sagenor returned to Woodstock, renting a small farm and at once engaging in farming. Five years later he purchased the William Winne farm which he subdivided and remodelled into one of the finest farms in the town.

Mr. Sagenor has clearly demonstrated by his legislative ability that Woodstock made no mistake in electing him to the county board four years ago, and again re-electing him two years ago. It goes without saying that he will again be elected this year by a much larger majority than ever before.

ACCORD TO HAVE ANOTHER SING

Owing to the necessity of his attendance at a funeral Harry P. Dodge, the well known musical director of Kingston could not be present at the last meeting of the Town of Rochester Singing Society, but his services and help have been engaged through the Farm Bureau for the meeting, next Thursday evening, October 16th, when the full singing strength of the township is expected to be on hand. In his absence the president of the society, Harry M. Eppes, acted as director and instructor. An unexpectedly large crowd in attendance showed that singing is a live topic in this locality, and to say that they followed the direction of their leader in the volume, tone and cadence of their musical product is putting it mildly. The society gives promise of being worth while and every singer and would-be singer of the township is expected at the next meeting.

ULSTER GARDEN CLUB MEETING

On Tuesday afternoon, the Ulster Garden Club held its annual meeting at the home of Miss Sarah Horton on Albany avenue. Reports of the various committees, of the year's work were given and proved exceedingly interesting. Mr. Service reported on the work done in connection with the school gardens, and what he said showed a commendable amount of work along this line accomplished.

The annual report of the secretary, showing the year's accomplishment, was then given as follows:

Report of the Ulster Garden Club, from October, 1918, to October, 1919:

During the past year we have held fourteen regular meetings, the meetings which were to have been held in October and November of last year being omitted on account of the influenza.

We held one special meeting January 23, 1919, to take action upon the death of our beloved honorary president, Mrs. Julia Dillon.

We have had three resignations. Miss Drake, Mrs. Gale and Mrs. Van Slyke and in their place we elected Mrs. Burgevin, Mrs. Warren and Mrs. King. We also elected four summer members, making a total membership of forty regular, four summer and two honorary members.

We voted to have the year's program arranged month by month and as much as possible to do without paid lectures. The result has been most satisfactory, as it enabled us to arrange our meeting more in accordance with the seasons. We decided to continue our help to the school children's gardens by giving our usual amount, $150, towards hiring Mr. Service, which amount was raised by voluntary subscription. In October, 1919, the Chamber of Commerce sent us a check, which was turned over to the chairman of the school children's gardens. It is planned to hold an exhibition of the products of the garden later this year in connection with the Farm Bureau, and we are asked to assist.

We were unable to send any delegates to the national meeting of the Garden Club of America held in Chicago in June but we were very fortunate in having a splendid report brought to us by Mrs. Sloan, president of the Philipstown Garden Club.

Our club has been represented at the council of presidents in New York and at the Short Hills Dahlias show and the exhibition under the auspices of the Philipstown Garden Club.

Among our interesting have been the following:

Mr. Salford, president of the Horticultural Society of Poughkeepsie, spoke on the "How and Why of Pruning and Spring Work in the Garden."

Mr. Service, supervisor of the school children's gardens, gave an interesting account of last year's work with the plans for this year's.

Very fortunately selected Mrs. Carter as the place for meeting when Mr. Frost gave his talk on "Warblers." He was thus able to identify for us many of the birds in the surrounding woods and orchards.

Dr. E. E. Hale spoke on the "Wild Flowers." Miss Harriet Rogers of the Philipstown Garden Club, who had just returned from France gave an interesting account of her work in the garden.

We all felt that we never fully appreciated the wonderful work done around the Ashokan reservoir until Mr. Clapp came as the history of its trees, becoming with the planting of the seeds by him and his assistants, continuing through the care of the crown trees.

We were fortunate in being able to listen to a talk by one of our members, who had just returned from visiting the "Battlefields in France and Belgium." Mrs. Lockett supplemented her talk by photos taken by her party.

The club is deeply indebted to another of its members, Mrs. Kelly, for her very instructive talk on "Mushrooms," which was illustrated by numerous specimens found on her place.

Like in the year Miss Horton returned from a year's work in the Y. W. C. A. of which she gave us a most interesting account.

We have held two exhibitions, one for floral specimens in the

PROVISION MADE FOR EXEMPTION

From Various Drills in Connection
With Military Training Law—
Rules Are Given.

Under the military training law of the state of New York, which requires that all boys between the ages of 16 and 19 shall attend drill, there is provision made for certain classes of boys obtaining exemption, carrying with it the right to be excused from the various drill assemblies.

The rules and regulations regarding exemption and recognition of vocational and other training as amended to September 1, 1919, are as follows:

Permanent Exemptions.

1. Boys physically disabled.

2. Boys, non-residents of the state, who are working by the day or attending day school in the state.

Temporary Exemptions.

1. School boys employed outside of school hours, who must work during the hours when military drill could be provided in order to stay in school.

2. Working boys attending night school and other than vocational night schools.

3. Boys who have filed claims of exemption or recognition of occupation pending decision of these claims.

Recognition of Vocational Training or Experience as Meeting Military Training Requirement.

1. Working boys attending vocational night schools.

2. Working boys enrolled in an apprenticeship course in an accredited industry.

3. Working boys serving the equivalent of an apprenticeship course in some shop where the opportunity for learning a trade is evident.

4. School boys engaged in regular and educative farm work outside of school.

5. Boys working regularly on farms.

Recognition of Training in Other Organizations.

1. Members of military and other established training organizations when found by inspection to offer work entitled to recognition.

Special Cases.

1. Such other cases as may not fall under any of the above classes, but are obviously entitled to exemption in that a hardship would be worked on the boy by compelling him to attend drill. These cases will be acted on separately.

On Friday, October 17, between the hours of 7:30 and 10 p. m., at the local state armory, opportunity will be given all boys who feel that they have grounds for exemption to state their case. The simple fact of having a claim for exemption does not excuse a boy from drill. A claim must be presented to the local instructors at the time and place indicated and properly prepared by them on the blanks provided for this purpose, after which it will be forwarded to Albany. There is considerable work involved in making up these blank forms and this work can not be undertaken at the regular assemblies of the various companies for lack of time. It is therefore especially important that all boys intending to claim exemption under any of the above mentioned classes should do so on Friday night of this week.

Any boy having a just claim of exemption can present his claim in the full knowledge that he will receive all possible consideration, but boys are requested not to present claims that are manifestly absurd as such claims must be rejected and will simply result in taking up valuable time.

The law in regard to exemption is decidedly complicated and any boy who is in doubt as to his status under the law can have full explanation made him on Friday evening.

Writing Paper.

Although there is a great shortage of paper, it is unlikely that many of us have carried—coming to the extent indicated in a letter received by a school teacher the other day, "Dear Sir, I ran, 'Please excuse Tom being late, but our gas leaked, so we couldn't cook any breakfast. Please send us some to put it right. P. S.—Please let him take this note on to the plumber.'"

Labor Aids Move to Extend "Neighborhood Governments"

Leaders Endorse Plan to Set Up Community Councils to Improve Living Conditions.

The part which organized labor should play in community development is being studied by John Frey and a committee of well-known labor leaders in connection with proposed plans for an extension of the Social Unit plan of community organization, which has received its initial try-out in a section of Cincinnati, Ohio. Under the auspices of Mr. Frey's committee, John Walker, former president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, has been making an intensive study of the Social Unit idea and will shortly submit recommendations to organized labor throughout the country.

Under the Social Unit plan neighborhoods are organized as units to study their own needs and form programs to meet them. The citizens of each community are organized by blocks, with elected block committees, and elected representatives to a central community council. Representatives elected by business, trade and professional groups assist the representatives of the blocks in planning programs to meet discovered needs. It is claimed that this scheme of organization that it does away with paternalism and brings government closer to people's lives.

In planning for a future community program, the Social Unit Organization is seeking the advice of labor, business, social workers, community workers, experts in municipal administration, public health, Americanization and public recreation.

JOHN P. FREY

Among the business men who are working with labor leaders in forming this community program is Charles Edison, son of the inventor and chairman of the board of directors of the Edison Company, who has resigned from all other social activities to affiliate with the Social Unit.

Roy Luitkart and Marion Carter.

Haggard and worn after his long vigil at the cots of his two babies, who were given mercuric poison by their mother, Roy Luitkart is shown here with little Marion Carter, daughter of Dr. Thomas A. Carter, noted Chicago poison specialist. Mr. Luitkart, having been assured by Dr. Carter that his babies, Edna, six, and Shirley, aged eight, have won their long fight against the poison, has begun preparations for removal of his daughters from the Columbus Hospital in Chicago to their home in Oak Hills, Detroit. Mrs. Luitkart has been adjudged insane and will be sent to the Michigan State Insane Asylum at Ionia.

C. M. McQuarrie.

The football team of Uncle Sam's military academy at West Point, which was given a drubbing at Syracuse recently, is due for a severe shake-up. Many imperfections were seen in the general plays put forward by the army men. The cadets' attack was not very forceful, but on the defense they were strong enough to hold for downs on two different occasions within the danger zone. Here is shown C. M. McQuarrie, West Point halfback, who starred for the cadets in the Syracuse game. McQuarrie scored the only points for the army when he kicked a field goal.

A guest of his mother one day last week, Mrs. Alice Berne, of Poughkeepsie, spent with her for a few days.

Anti Strike Legislation.

Washington, Oct. 16.—A legislative program to prevent strikes was introduced today. The education and labor committee of the senate, which has been conducting an investigation of the steel strike, is drafting laws which would serve to stem out industrial difficulties before they reach the strike stage.

Highway Improvement

MOTOR TRUCKS TO AID ROADS

Government to Give Army Equipment Valued at $45,000,000 to State Highway Departments.

More than $45,000,000 worth of motor trucks are about to be distributed by the secretary of agriculture through the bureau of public roads to the state highway departments. These trucks have been declared surplus by the war department and are being distributed to the states under the provisions of section 7 of the post office appropriation bill. They must be used by the states on roads constructed in whole or in part by federal aid, for which $200,000,000 in addition to the former appropriation was given to the states under the same bill. All that the states must do to acquire the use of these 20,000 trucks, which range in capacity from two to five tons, is to pay the loading and freight charges. Of the 20,000 motor vehicles to be acquired practically free by the states 11,000 are new and 9,000 are used, but all are declared to be in serviceable condition. The motors will be apportioned to states only upon request of the state highway departments on the basis of the requests received from the respective states, and in accordance with the apportionment provided in the federal aid law approved in 1916. The requirements of the laws are such that the bureau of public roads cannot distribute any trucks to counties or individuals.

FARMERS FAVOR GOOD ROADS

Recognized as Greatest Economic Need of Agricultural Communities in Eastern States.

Good roads are the greatest economic need for agricultural communities. This is the answer of 200 prominent farmers of the state of Maine to questionnaires which asked them to summarize urgent necessities to bring their districts up to the desired economic standard.

The farmers who answered the questionnaires were selected as those best fitted to answer the questions, and they were asked to furnish a digest of the situation in their respective communities with reference to acreage, crops, farm improvements, civic and social conditions, etc.

The definitions of the greatest needs covered a wide and interesting range. The largest record of needs was good roads, 51 emphasizing the urgent necessity of adequate highways. There were 45 who asked for more farm laborers, 44 for co-operative buying and selling, 35 for better school privileges, 29 for more blue-blooded stock, 29 for manufacturing plants, 29 for better marketing facilities, and 21 for greater credit extensions by banks.

ROADS AS DIVIDEND PAYERS

Where Good Roads Enable Farmer to Save One Hour Per Week He Makes Big Gain in Year.

If a farmer saves an hour a week by being enabled to use good roads as opposed to bad roads, it would mean 52 hours a year; estimating the use of man and team as being worth $6 a day, this means a saving of $31.20 a year.

Suppose his farm is assessed at $10,000, and the additional tax levy due to the issue of road bonds by the county runs to $1 per thousand, which would mean $10 a year additional taxes as against a saving of $31.20 on time alone. This means that he is investing $10 and drawing dividends of $31.20, an interest rate of 312 per cent.

TEXAS TO BUILD HIGHWAYS

According to Member of State Highway Commission Approximately $12,000,000 Available.

Approximately $12,000,000 is available for road construction work in Texas in 1919, according to R. M. Hubbard, a member of the state highway commission. This amount includes about $10,000,000 from the federal post office appropriation bills.

Making Billiard Balls.

Experience has shown in the making of billiard balls that as it drives, every scratch on the surface is turned into a bump and kept in a warm room for a long time—sometimes two years—then after striking they are turned again.

Calling repeatedly for "mamma," little Shirley Luitkart, eight years old, and her sister Edna, six, are in a critical condition as the result of mercuric poison given them, it is said, by their mother, Mrs. Roy Luitkart, of Oak Hills, Detroit, Mich. In an effort to save the lives of the tots, they were recently transported to Chicago to be attended by Dr. Thomas H. Carter, noted poison specialist. The grief-stricken father, Roy Luitkart, has not left the bedside of the little patients in the Columbus Hospital, Chicago, for many hours.

The photographs in the above layout show little Shirley and Edna in their cots at the Columbus Hospital; Mr. Roy Luitkart, their father, and Mrs. Luitkart, who, while deranged, fed her babies bichloride of mercury.

Colonel E. M. House arriving home.

Haggard and careworn, Colonel E. M. House, delegate to the Peace Conference and personal adviser of President Wilson, returned to this country from France aboard the steamship Northern Pacific. The photograph shows Colonel House being assisted from the steamship on his arrival in New York. Colonel House has been in poor health ever since an attack of grippe in Paris some time ago.

Sergeant Tanner, Colonel Miller and Major Spatz.

THE PHONOGRAPH PARTS REPAIR TALKING

to each other after playing some beautiful music for the hostess and her guests.

"Tell you what," said Mr. Record, "it makes me proud to know that my art is so appreciated by the great public!"

Prim Miss Needle pricked up her ears. "Your art? Why if it wasn't for me you couldn't make a sound! The very idea of trying to take away my credit!"

"There's no point to your remarks, Miss Needle," broke in Mrs. Reproductor. "You merely carry vibrations to me. I turn them into tones. The applause of the public rightly belongs to me!"

"Nonsense!" cried young Tone Arm. "You don't amount to anything at all until I get on the job. If it wasn't for my skill in swelling the tone, nobody would listen to you!"

Down below, old Mr. Sound Chamber shook his sides with mellow laughter.

"Isn't it amusing how these little parts make a fuss about themselves?" quoth he. "They know all the time that I'm the star actor in this show. Tone is what people want, and I'm the fellow that gives beauty to the tone. They're jealous, that's all!"

Instantly there was a hubbub. All the other parts began to answer this last remark at the same time, but there was such discord that nobody could be heard.

The Harmonium Cabinet decided the argument had gone far enough. "Children, children, sh-h-h!" said he in his polished, polite way. "Don't you see that you're all at fault? Each of you is essential, but don't get the idea you're the whole thing just because you're an essential part! It takes team work, not strife, to produce harmony!"

"There are lots of people in the world like you," went on Mr. Cabinet. "They think they're the whole thing when they're really only an essential part."

"Get together, work together, help each other! Then there'll be all harmony, no discord. You'll do better work than ever, and there'll be plenty of rewards and applause for you all!"

Next morning the business started the same again. This time Mrs. Record did the best. Mrs. Needle and Mrs. Reproductor worked busily together going. Tone Arm, inspired, put his finger and hand into the music, while down below, old Mr. Sound Chamber mouthed the same words with delight.

Then they heard one of the guests say, "Mr. George! That's the best I've ever heard anybody say! When I get my own instrument, it's certainly going to be as good as yours!"

And the guests all chuckled with joy and happiness, because something "so good" had brought them success.

You'll find every "part" of this "working together" an essential part of the whole.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, Oct. 16.—The October meeting of the local W. C. T. U. was held at Hunt Memorial Hall on Wednesday afternoon. There was a large attendance of members and a few visitors. The meeting was in charge of the vice president, Mrs. Addison Stratton, and was opened with Scripture reading and prayer by Mrs. Mahlon Smith. This was followed by a business session at which time the secretary's and treasurer's reports were given and accepted. The subject of this meeting was Civics and was under the direction of the superintendents, Mrs. George P. Andrews and Mrs. R. T. Cookington. The ladies had arranged a program which was carried out. The candidates for town offices of the two parties were named and discussions followed in which all had a part in willing. The union is non-partisan and the choice of candidate to be elected in voting is left to the individual. The entire program was enjoyed with profit, to all attending. Many years have elapsed since on that memorable occasion when the W. C. T. U. great leader, Frances E. Willard stood on the platform in the city of Buffalo and raised her voice in the interest of women having the right to vote. Now she has it, she should put forth best effort and play her part for the cause for which she nobly stands. God and home and native land, and see to it that her town, her county, her state and her best interests are furthered by her ballot.

Among the number attending the 19th anniversary of the Phillipsport M. E. Church were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Terwilliger from Ellenville, and Mrs. Terwilliger's cousin, Mrs. William Seaman of Washingtonville, whose grandmother, Mrs. Decker, was an earnest supporter of this church. An important part on the program, giving the church history, Rev. I. M. Smith of Middletown, came over to call on Rev. Albert E. Lord, residing in the village, and he accompanied Mr. Coons by auto to the services. Notwithstanding inclement weather, a large attendance is reported and a grand meeting. The decorating committee of welcome home day have been at work making the village quite alive with decorations. Canal street is one mass of welcome home emblems. The stores are decorating. The Mitchell House is a mass of red, white and blue and the residence and office of Dr. R. F. Neal is a bower of incant young ladies are to enter the beauty with its flags and hunting. A little more sunshine and the stranger entering the town will want to stay right here and go no further. It will linger longer until Saturday arrives with all its welcome and the stores of the village never presented a more beautiful appearance than now in their handsome display of goods along lines carried for welcome home day. Lieutenant Tate, who gave aeroplane exhibitions at Kingston's welcome home day, has been engaged to be here on Saturday and do stunts with his Curtiss machine that charmed so many who were in Kingston. State troopers from White Plains will be here to preserve order. The soldiers, sailors are marines of the town of Wawarsing will be welcomed home rain or shine.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Edsell of East Orange, N. J., motored to Ellenville and spent the week-end with relatives. They brought home Mrs. J. R. Mowell, Mrs. Edsell's mother who had been spending a few weeks with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lord and children of Passaic spent Sunday with Mr. Lord's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Albert E. Lord.
